

DESOLATION SOUND EXPEDITION

GUEST HANDBOOK

SPIRIT
OF THE WEST
ADVENTURES

TOUR OVERVIEW

Five days in the warmest waters north of Mexico

Tucked beneath the towering Coast Mountains of BC, Desolation Sound is an area of epic scenery, dramatic coastlines and beautiful campsites.

Where you'll go

Beginning and ending in Squirrel Cove on Cortes Island, you'll paddle past West Redonda and into the heart of the Desolation Sound Marine Provincial Park. No two expeditions are the same, but many groups will spend at least a few nights on the Curme, Martin or Kinghorn Islands in the middle of the Sound. Some groups might head north to Teakerne Arm or Roscoe Bay, while other groups will head south and camp on the Malaspina Peninsula or the Copeland Islands.

Weather & wildlife

Due to a fortunate quirk of geography, Desolation Sound is one of the warmest and driest parts of the BC coast during the summer months. Situated in a rainshadow from the mountains of Vancouver Island, Desolation Sound receives less rainfall and fewer cloudy days than other popular kayaking destinations nearby. The Sound also happens to fall roughly midway between the north and south ends of Vancouver Island - at the convergence of the tidal flow from both directions. The smaller tidal movement and lack of major currents within the Sound means that the water moves much slower and has longer to absorb heat from the sun - making it a very pleasant temperature (up to 22°C) for swimming. This being said, you should always be prepared for rain - especially at the very beginning or very end of the season.

Intertidal and bird life abounds here. If you're lucky, you might spot some other marine creatures too. Seals, sea lions, dolphins, porpoises and even whales have been known to visit. In the peak of summer, stay up after dark and dip your paddle in the water to watch the magical phosphorescence light up.

Who this trip is for

The Desolation Sound Expedition is for anyone looking for an adventure in paradise. While kayaking is a core part of this tour, it often isn't the sole focus of every day. Relaxing, swimming and exploring on foot are big components of this trip too. No prior paddling experience is required but due to the terrain, good mobility is highly recommended. # EXAMPLE ITINERARY

This example itinerary is flexible and may be adapted based on weather conditions and group ability. There is no set route for this tour, other than starting and ending in Squirrel Cove. You can expect to move camp 2-4 times over the 5 days.

DAY 1

Meet us at 7:15am at the Spirit of the West base on Quadra Island. Jump in the van and we'll make our way over to Cortes.

Alternatively, meet us at the departure point. Arrive in Squirrel Cove by 10:15am and park your car. Pay for parking (approx $5 per day) in the General Store. Squirrel Cove is a pretty small place, so it'll be easy to find your guides.

After everyone helps to unload the kayaks from the trailer, your guides will demonstrate how to pack your gear for the expedition. After running through a safety briefing, you'll grab a quick lunch before launching into Desolation Sound.

With the Coast Mountains towering over you and shimmering water on all sides, that first afternoon will be a flurry of excitement.

After arriving at your first campsite and picking the perfect spot for your tent, your guides will serve up some delicious appetizers and a hearty dinner. You'll have some free time to relax, read, swim or just sit and enjoy the sunset.

DAYS 2-4

Kicking off the day with a cup of steaming coffee and some tasty breakfast, your guides will make a plan based on weather conditions and the group's desires. Maybe you'll go for a day paddle to explore Prideaux Haven, enjoy a short hike to a hidden freshwater lake for an afternoon swim, or perhaps you'll break camp and head off to discover another corner of the park.

A picnic lunch will be prepared en-route and your guides will be on hand to tell you all about the amazing intertidal and marine life you might see on the way.

At the end of the day, take a dip in the warmest waters north of the Baja, or settle in for the night with a good book and a mug of tea.

DAY 5

Enjoy your final morning on the water, with an early paddle back to Squirrel Cove.

After a quick lunch and some fond farewells, you'll be jumping in your vehicle to head home. We aim to be back on Cortes with enough time for you to catch the 3:50pm ferry back to Quadra.

WHAT TO EXPECT

YOUR JOURNEY: This is an expedition-style tour. During your 4 nights in Desolation Sound, you can expect to stay at 2, 3 or even 4 different campsites.

SELF-SUPPORTED: Your group will be carrying everything you need in your kayaks. There is no support crew, stash points or supply drops. For this reason, it is important to pack well and pack light.

PART OF A TEAM: Our expeditions require everyone to work together as a team. You will be needed to help keep camp tidy, and to assist with loading, carrying and unloading kayaks at the beginning and end of every day.

LANDINGS: The shorelines in Desolation Sound plunge steeply into the ocean. There are very few beaches - landings are small, rocky and uneven underfoot. Some boat carries are steep and some landings require you to move quickly. Your guides will assist where they can, but good mobility is required.

KAYAKING: Each day on the water, you can expect to be paddling for 3-5 hours and cover 4-6 nautical miles per day. You may encounter wind, swell, currents, crossings and technical landings on rocky beaches.

KAYAKS: A fleet of good quality fibreglass kayaks will join your expedition. Typically, your group will have at least 2 double kayaks and the rest singles. You can expect to rotate through them and to get to paddle different boats throughout your trip.

CAMPsites: Desolation Sound is an established marine provincial park. Most sites are well established, with pit toilets and built tent platforms. Delicate ecosystems are found here, so please stick to established trails and designated camping zones. The park does get busy with kayakers and boaters in the summer months: your guides will be strategic about when and where to move camp during your expedition.

HYGIENE: Handwashing stations will be set up at each lunch spot and camp site. Refreshing saltwater ocean swims can be used for bathing.

SAFETY: Risk assessment and safety protocols are a big part of wilderness travel. Listen to the safety briefings given by your guides and FOLLOW THE PRECAUTIONS put in place to keep everyone safe.

REMOTE ACCESS: Cell service is quite reliable in Desolation Sound, but you will not have access to electricity or charging stations. Please bring extra batteries or battery packs for phones and cameras.

7. DIETARY RESTRICTIONS AND ACCOMMODATIONS

We need to know as soon as possible about any dietary requirements we should consider when planning your trip menu. If you have food allergies or restrictions, we will do our best to accommodate your needs. However, people with severe food allergies may need to supply some or all of their own food as we can't entirely mitigate the risk of cross-contamination. Additionally, some specific needs can only be met if we charge you a supplemental menu fee to cover our increased costs. Please note we are not a peanut- or nut-free facility.

Note: Pending a detailed discussion about a guest's specific dietary requirements, Spirit of the West Adventures may determine that a person with severe allergies and/or dietary restrictions is not suitable for our adventures due to the constraints of preparing food for groups of people in a wilderness setting.
